Dear

Re: Request for information under the Freedom of Information Act 2000
Ref no: CAS-03778-T5Y6C9-CC

Thank you for your correspondence dated 30 August 2018 making a request under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 for information which may be held by NHS Cannock Chase Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG).

You requested the following information and our response is detailed below:

I am writing to ask about the status of the prescribing policies for Flash Glucose Monitoring/FreeStyle Libre technology in NHS Cannock Chase CCG.

Flash Glucose Monitoring (Flash GM) enables people with diabetes to check their glucose levels without the need to prick their fingers and draw blood. A Flash GM device, the FreeStyle Libre, was included on the drug tariff on 1st November 2017.

Flash GM has a number of benefits:

- It has been shown to better support someone's self-management of their condition as it provides a greater density of data and the ability to follow trends in glucose levels, which are not available from less frequent blood glucose testing.
- It can enable fine tuning of insulin and so reduces hypoglycaemia and increases time in target range of glucose levels (improved HbA1c).
- People using the device have been shown to test glucose levels more frequently as it is easier, quicker and less painful than routine finger prick glucose monitoring.
- Being able to check glucose levels frequently during the day is key to limiting hypoglycaemia and managing blood glucose.

Improved management could lead to fewer complications and fewer expensive ambulance callouts and hospital admissions.

Flash is currently available on prescription in Northern Ireland and Wales. However, thousands of people in Scotland and England can still only access it privately, at a cost of over £100 a month. Many areas are already following the below guidance:

- NHS England Regional Medicines Optimisation Committee (North) position statement on the use of Flash (<https://www.sps.nhs.uk/wp-content/uploads/2017/11/Flash-Glucose-monitoring-System-RMOC-Statement-final.pdf>).
- The Type 1 collaborative, a group of clinical specialists working in diabetes (<https://abcd.care/getting-freestyle-libre-your-formulary>).
- Diabetes UK's Consensus Guideline for Flash Glucose Monitoring (https://www.diabetes.org.uk/resources-s3/2017-09/1190_Flash%20glucose%20monitoring%20guideline_SB_V9%5B4%5D.pdf)

I understand that there are significant budgetary pressures in the NHS. The Freestyle device is cost effective for people with diabetes who are treated with insulin and testing frequently. It has also been firmly established that tight glycaemic control in people with diabetes is associated with a significant reduction in serious and costly long-term diabetes related complications. Therefore focusing spend on areas like Flash GM, which gives people the tools to manage their diabetes more effectively must therefore be an absolute priority.

Please can you let me know:

- If you have agreed a policy
- What the policy is in terms of access and where this can be found publically
- If you have not agreed a policy, when you plan to do so.

At present, there is no agreed policy across the six Staffordshire CCGs (NHS Cannock Chase CCG, NHS East Staffordshire CCG, NHS North Staffordshire CCG, NHS Stafford and Surrounds CCG, NHS South East Staffordshire and Seisdon Peninsula CCG, and NHS Stoke-on-Trent CCG).

Work is ongoing to review the Freestyle Libre technology and to undertake the necessary commissioning process to determine if this is to be commissioned locally, however at present, the CCGs do not have a clear deadline as to when this will be completed. NHS Cannock Chase CCG is committed to complete this review as soon as possible.
